All members and guests are invited to observe and participate in this historical occasion of dedicating a mechanical engineering accomplishment of the past era.

This dedication, a FIRST for our ASME Section, is being made in commemoration of the Ferries and Cliff House Cable Railway established in the year of 1887 and designed by Howard C. Holmes (1854-1921).

The purpose of this dedication is to establish a national historical landmark of a past mechanical engineering accomplishment which was once considered a wonder of that day and thereby bring wider public attention and appreciation for the past accomplishments in the field of mechanical engineering.

The ceremonies will begin at 11:00 A.M., November 29, 1973, at the Cable Car Powerhouse followed by a luncheon program in Chinatown. Automobile parking is not available at the dedication site; however, Portsmouth Square and Holiday Inn are in close proximity for convenient parking. Luncheon cost is $4.00 per person with tickets available for purchase at the restaurant. Please make your reservations early. We hope to see you there.
